Every environment has the potential of a slips and trips hazard. ETD's Slips and Trips course educates your employees in the implementation of good housekeeping...helping to reduce an accident at work – whilst making the workplace a much safer environment.

Slips and trips are one of the main causes for accidents in the workplace; however, these accidents can be easily prevented. This health and safety training course gives you the opportunity to meet legislation efficiently – helping your workforce understand the core principles behind a safer working environment.

The training is designed to fit the requirements of most organisations. Whether you work in a school, hospital, library, factory, shop or construction site this course has been designed for you – helping to reduce the potential of an accident at work!

Who is this training for?

Everyone in a place of work whether that's an office, a school, a factory, a shop or a construction site. More than a third of all workplace injuries result from slips and trips.
